

Which teen are you?

How much do you share online? Take this quiz to find out!

1. You just got food poisoning from a new restaurant. You...

- Write a cryptic post on Facebook about not eating at that restaurant ever again.
- Give them a bad review online.
- Mail a strongly worded letter to the manager.
- Tweet details of how much you got sick...with pictures.
- Tell your friend how much you liked it so he'll go, too. It'll be hysterical!

2. You want to go see the big summer blockbuster this weekend. You...

- Group text 15 of your closest friends.
- Tweet the details to see if anyone else wants to go.
- Call your friends on the phone to make plans.
- Tweet to ask if anyone wants to go. Tweet when you find out the movie times. Tweet when you decide on a time. Tweet when you get to the theater...you get the idea.
- Think carefully about who you want to go with and send them a private message.

3. You had a fight with your best friend. You...

- Unfriend her on Facebook. If you make up later, you can just friend her again.
- Complain about it in a gamer forum. Those guys are pretty good listeners.
- Go over to his house and talk it out.
- Instagram pictures of how you're feeling, like a boiling pot of water and a weeping willow tree.
- Text his girlfriend flirty messages. She's cute. Why not?

4. A new game came out this week and everyone is playing it on their phones. You...

- Buy it. You don't want to be left out when your friends talk about it.
- Already have it and beat it...twice.
- Don't really care. The only app you use is your calendar to keep track of your busy schedule.
- Post the score of every game you play on Facebook.
- Check it out just to see what the hype is.

5. Your crush asks you out. You...

- Stalk his Twitter account to see if he mentions you.
- Send her a link to a playlist of your favorite songs.
- Introduce yourself to her parents.
- Change your relationship status to "In a relationship."
- Make sure she didn't post about it online.

6. Your parents surprised you with a European trip over the holidays. You...

- Wonder how big of a cell phone bill you'll rack up from all that overseas texting.
- Create profiles on a few travel websites and start asking people for tips on what to do.
- Gladly leave your cell behind. You won't miss it.
- Call your cell phone company to make sure you'll have full Internet access in every country.
- Download a few language apps so you can ask out girls in other languages.

7. You lose power during a storm and your cell is about to run out of batteries. You...

- Charge it in the car. Who cares about wasting gas and car batteries? You have people to talk to!
- Check all of your accounts and notify your friends that you'll be offline for a while.
- Turn it off. You weren't using it anyway.
- Head out to the nearest 24-hour coffee shop with free Wi-Fi and get comfy. You can't be unplugged for even a minute.
- Welcome the quiet. You were having a hard time keeping all of your accounts straight anyway.

8. It's your birthday and you want to celebrate. You...

- Create a Facebook event and invite everyone on your friends list.
- Plan a game-a-thon with your gaming buddies from all over the world.
- Go out for pizza after the game with your team. You like it simple.
- Create a Twitter account named "My Birthday" and tweet things like "It's going to be epic" and "I bought a piñata" for weeks before the party to get people excited.
- Throw two parties. You need to keep some party guests separated.

If you answered...

Mostly A's - You're Kayla! You're a social butterfly who's always online. You don't post anything bad, but keep an eye on your friends and family. They might not be as trustworthy as you think.

Mostly B's - You're Nick! You're a gamer who likes to talk, talk, talk. You spend a lot of time online and leave a ton of footprints. Are you sure you've covered your tracks?

Mostly C's - You're Will! You're a busy guy who doesn't have much time to be online. You don't have a lot of patience for technology, but are you missing out? That's for you to decide.

Mostly D's - You're Elise! You're fully connected and can't go a minute without telling the world what you're thinking, but is every thought worth sharing? You need to work on editing yourself.

Mostly E's - You're Logan! You're a scheming bad boy juggling at least two different online personas, but you're bound to slip up sometime. Might as well come clean now.
